

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

GROSVENOR LIBRARY,

BUFFALO, N. Y.

Bulletin No. 1, 1900.

AN INDEXED CATALOGUE OF BOOKS

IN THE DEPARTMENT OF Local History and Genealogy.

PUBLISHED BY THE LIBRARY,

March 1, 1900.

PREFACE.

The present bulletin contains a list of books in the Grosvenor Library of interest to those engaged in genealogical research. These comprise works devoted to the history of the various towns, counties, and states; town and parish records; family histories; works on heraldry; and genealogical periodicals, indexes and guides.

The catalogue is divided as follows:

I. State, county, and town histories and records, periodicals and other general works, arranged alphabetically under the name of the author, or if anonymous, under the title. This list is intended for use with Durrie's Index.

II. Index to localities in the preceeding list, including a few references to titles of anonymous books.

III. Family histories entered alphabetically under the name of the family, with numerous cross-references, mostly to families not included in Durrie's Index.

IV. Books on heraldry and related subjects.

V. Books on names and their derivations.

VI. Genealogical guides, indexes and useful bibliographies.

A few words to patrons of this department of the Library.

Books of interest to genealogists are shelved in an alcove by themselves at the lower left-hand corner of the large reading-room. The cases are kept locked, but will be opened to any serious student who wishes to consult more than a very limited number of books at a time, provided they will take the trouble to conform to a few necessary regulations governing this department:

All books taken from these shelves should be left on the table, not replaced on the shelves. Readers are requested to notify the attendants at the desk when they are through with their books so they may be returned to their places at once. Lead pencils must be used in all cases in taking notes. The general rule of SILENCE should be as conscientiously observed in the genealogical alcove as in any portion of the large reading-room.

Directions for locating books on the shelves.

The arrangement of books in this department begins in the fourth press to the left of the entrance to the alcove. Local and town histories come first. Beginning with New England, the separate states follow nearly in their geographical order from the Atlantic district westward. The class number, which forms the upper member of the double call number displayed on the back of each volume, runs in strict numerical order from 974, New England, to 979.8, for Alaska.

Following this section in presses 12 and 13, are the works on genealogy, family history, heraldry, etc. The class numbers in this section run from 929.0 to 929.8. Presses 14 and 15 contain the 4to and folio volumes too large to stand in their proper place, where a dummy will indicate the fact that they are shelved elsewhere. These are arranged in the same numerical order as the smaller volumes.

Under each state are placed: First, general histories and descriptive works on that state; second, histories and descriptive works on the several counties; third, the works devoted to individual towns.

In the above series works on counties and towns are arranged alphabetically under the name of county or town; family histories are arranged under the name of the family treated. All other works under the author, or title if the work is anonymous.

By following these simple directions patrons of the library may soon learn to select their books at once, but in cases of doubt they are requested to avail themselves of the assistance of the attendants at the desk, not only for locating the books they wish, but for suggestions in securing further information not appearing in the present catalogue.

This catalogue contains all books added to this department up to January, 1900. A list of later accessions may be procured for inspection by inquiry at the desk. Some books have been included here that may seem to have but little bearing upon genealogical research, but they will be found to contain lists of early settlers and similar records that will be of interest to investigators. It seemed better to include too much rather than too little.
